

Hello everyone.....Here are my suggestions for free activities over the half term holiday. Don't forget that if you are a B&NES resident your discovery card will get you into the Roman Baths and Fashion museum for free. All the other venues have free admission anyway.

Roman Baths – a workshop about the goddess Minerva and why the owl is her symbol. This runs Monday to Friday 10 till 1 and 2 till 4.

Fashion Museum – Monday 15th - what can you make with a plastic bag? 10.30 till 12.30 and 1.30 till 3.30.

Victoria Art Gallery – Wednesday 27th – make a family collage – and Friday 19th – make a self-portrait silhouette. 10 till 11 and 11.30 till 12.30.

Bath City Farm – Thursday 18th – Meet the Saxons – try some food, make a pot, meet some characters! 11 till 2.

In the Bristol area you might want to go to M Shed, the Arnolfini or the Bristol Museum but bear in mind that Bristol schools have their half term this week so the holiday activities will not be running when we are off. <https://www.bristolmuseums.org.uk/>

If you can travel further afield Trowbridge Museum has activities from Tuesday to Friday over the half term week. Look at www.trowbridgemuseum.co.uk

If you know of any other places with free admission, please let me know and I can look them up for the Easter newsletter.

Have a lovely break.

Hockey News – Fidelius Junior Hockey League.....Last

Sunday morning, our Year 3 and 4 Hockey teams played at the University in the U8 and & U9 Leagues.

Great news for both Teams –

The Year 3 Team won their league and The Year 4 Team were runners up in theirs. Well done everybody!

What a brilliant result for St Stephen's and a big thank you to the excellent coaching of Sally Potter.
